

National Planning Practice Guidance

<http://planningguidance.planningportal.gov.uk>

- National Planning Policy Framework (</blog/policy>)
- Planning Practice Guidance (</blog/guidance>)

National Planning Practice Guidance (<http://planningguidance.planningportal.gov.uk>) > What methodological approach should be used? > Revisions

What methodological approach should be used?

How often are the projections updated?

Created: 20/08/2013

Updated: 22/08/2013

The Government's official population and household projections are generally updated every two years to take account of the latest demographic trends. Wherever possible, local needs assessments should be informed by the latest available information. The 2011-based Interim Household Projections only cover a ten year period up to 2021, so plan makers would need to assess likely trends after 2021 to align with their development plan periods.

Department for Communities & Local Government

(<https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/department-for-communities-and-local-government>)

- About the Beta (<http://planningguidance.planningportal.gov.uk/beta/>)
- Feedback (<http://planningguidance.planningportal.gov.uk/feedback/>)
- Contact us (<http://planningguidance.planningportal.gov.uk/contact-us/>)